To Our Valued Customers,

All Omega Environmental Technologies and Santech Industries facilities and distribution channels remain open and fully operational. Strict and proactive health precautions have been implemented company-wide in accordance with health, government and executive officials. While much of our team is currently working from home, customer service remains top of mind. At this time, we do not expect any delays or shortages. Our phone lines remain open and our team is eager to help.

As the COVID-19 crisis continues, we are committed to keeping our distribution channels open to support auto repair and maintenance facilities, designated as essential services by the federal government.

Omega Environmental Technologies and Santech Industries will continue to monitor the situation and stay in communication. We send our best wishes to you, your employees, and your customers during these trying times.

Best Regards,

Earl Bloom
